MacArthur Pushes Starvation Drive Against Japanese

Leapfrog Landings and Ship Sinkings Underscore Campaign

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, March 23—(AP)—Leapfrog landings in the Bismarck archipelago and the steady attrition of Japan's merchant fleet, vital to the supply of her scattered, diluted Pacific garrisons, are underscoring Gen. Douglas MacArthur's "cut them off and let them starve" strategy of how to fight Japan.

Since the first of the year 227 Japanese cargo ships have been sunk in the Central and Southwest Pacific, aside from nearly 600 barges, many of them loaded with the troops and supplies. These ships were links in lifelines to wide-flung defense outposts.

Particularly off the northwest coast of New Guinea have Japan's sealines come increasingly under allied bombsights. Last weekend an entire five-ship enemy convoy was sunk between Hollandia and Wewak, and MacArthur announced today that allied bombers sank a Japanese destroyer and two small merchantmen in that same general area.

Many Face Starvation

Under MacArthur's strategy of by-passing certain enemy strongpoints to cut off their supply lines, uncounted thousands of Nipponese troops are left starving or facing starvation in the Solomons, on New Britain and New Ireland.

The same may be in store for New Guinea.

The latest Bismarck archipelago landings in the St. Matthias islands, invaded Monday, were securely in hand today as Marines from Solomons bases cleaned up the slight opposition found on Emirau island and neighboring Elomusao. This completed a circle of allied holdings around the Bismarck sea, trapping Nipponese troops at Rabaul and Kavieng.

BURMA CAMPAIGN

New Delhi, March 23—(AP)—Japanese columns invading India now threaten Imphal, key road center in Manipur, from the south and east, it was disclosed today when allied headquarters told of an enemy force which has driven more than 80 miles up the lower Manipur river valley from Tiddim in the Chin hills area.

The headquarters statement said the column was 30 miles from Imphal on the west side of Logtak lake south of the city.

This report of a second invasion of India within 24 hours by the Japanese ran counter to previous reports of activity in the Tiddim area, where earlier announcements indicated the enemy was confined within the Burma borders.

"Yesterday's report said an allied force had been dispatched to "deal with Japanese outflanking units north of Tiddim," but gave no hint that the enemy had slammed 80 miles into India from the south as well as from the east in the vicinity of Thaungdut on the upper Chindwin river.

The Japanese breakthrough onto the plan around Imphal from their present dispositions is dependent on gathering reinforcements larger than presently observed Japanese forces, Southeast Asia command spokesmen said.

Rice Paddies Adaptable

The rice paddies of the Imphal plain would be readily adaptable for airstrips, if the Japanese have the planes available to use them.

When and if the fighting breaks into the open plain, the allied air superiority against the almost non-existent or carefully husbanded Japanese air strength in this

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

British Prime Minister Churchill is used to world-wide audiences, but keen attention will be paid his statement in parliament that there will be renewed consultation between the principal allies on the application of the Atlantic Charter.

Need of clarification of this historic allied pledge to mankind long has been apparent. If proof of that were necessary we should find it in the adroit manner in which Churchill sidestepped any commitment regarding specific application of the document.

However, we don't need further proof than we've long had in the demands from many countries for enlightenment. Self-determination is the big issue.

I've already reported in this column how I was bombarded with anxious inquiries in the Middle East and Far East on my last trip abroad. Not only anxiety but fears exist both in the orient and in the western world.

Churchill declined to be more specific than to say that "the Atlantic Charter stands as a declaration of the spirit and purpose in which its signatories are waging

Casualties

Washington, March 23 — (AP)—Battle casualties of American Army and Navy forces since the start of the war stand at 168,292.

Secretary of War Stimson said today that Army casualties—dead, wounded, missing and prisoners—amounted to 126,193 up to March 7. The Navy's casualties—Navy, Marines and Coast Guards—are 42,099.

Since American forces landed in Italy last September 9, Stimson said, the casualities total 39,058. This was an increase of 2,287 since Stimson said on March 2 that American casualties were 36,771, noting that those figures necessarily were two or three weeks behind.

The 2,287 increase covers a period in which much of the heavy fightings on the Cassino front was carried on by British rather than American forces, Between the two reports, the number of killed increased 1688. The war department's statistics on casualties for the Italian theater did not include prisoners of war. Those apparently being contained in the category of "missing".

The missing total given today by Stimson was 10,275, an increase of 352 over the previous figure.

The Navy's casualties are as follows: killed 17,887; wounded 10,754; missing 9,036; prisoners of war 4,422.

The total naval casualties of 42,099 are divided as follows: Navy 27,790; Marines 13,854; Coast Guard 455.

The 126,193 Army casualties since the start of the war were divided as follows: killed 21,737; wounded 50,363; missing 26,747; prisoners 27,346.

New Russian Drive Threatens German Tarnopol Salient

Red Vauguards Are Reported Only 25 Miles From Prut River

Moscow, March 23 —(AP) — Russian troops fought today within sight of the Black sea naval base of Nikolaev and drove into the hills of Bessarabia where the land begins rising gradually to the Carpathian mountains.

The battle for Nikolaev has begun and the Germans appear doomed.

Marshal Ivan S. Konev's mobile troops reached points 25 miles from the Prut river, where the Rumanians and Germans launched their invasion of Russia, and 18 miles from the Bessarabian communications center of Byeltsi.

Two Rumanian divisions with German commanders and storm troops offered sharp resistance in the rolling hills, but failed to arrest the tremendous tempo of the Red army. The Russians commanded roads to the west through bare country "not so boggy as the southern Ukraine", military advices said.

Churchill Address Sunday Afternoon

London, March 23—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill will address the nation Sunday—his first broadcast since his winter illness—amid a rising clamor on both sides of the Atlantic for clarification of the allied war aims.

The speech, scheduled for 9 p. m. (3 p. m. CWT), is awaited here as a possible key to the position which Britain may take on the multiple problems expected to come up for discussion at the forthcoming conferences in London between U. S. Under-Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., and the British foreign office.

There has been speculation abroad that these conferences might be followed by another meeting between Churchill and President Roosevelt.

Growing demands in the House of Commons and the United States for a detailed statement on allied war and post-war plans, as well as for clarification of what revisions—if any—can be expected in the Atlantic Charter, have suggested the additional possibility that Churchill and Roosevelt may seek another meeting with Premier Stalin.

The lone political hand which Russia has been playing lately in connection with Italian, French, Yugoslav and Polish affairs has raised many questions in both Britain and America concerning the solidarity of the "big three" powers.

Report Two Lee County Infantrymen — Wounded in Action in Italian Drive

Two Lee county infantrymen have been wounded in action in the Italian campaign, it was disclosed last night in official casualty reports issued by the war department in Washington.

Tech. Sgt. LeRoy O. Warrenfeltz, Jr., 27-year-old Franklin Grove soldier, was wounded in action Jan. 25. He is the son of LeRoy O. Warrenfelz, Sr., and was inducted into the army Feb. 10, 1942. He received his basic training at the Presidio of San Francisco and was stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., and Fort Ord, Cal., before going overseas Oct. 24, 1942.

Sgt. Warrenfeltz' wife, Pfc. Lila Warrenfeltz of Dixon is serving with a WAC detachment at the Lubbock, Tex., army airbase.

Sgt. Irvin J. Edwards, 26-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse W. Edwards of Lee, was seriously wounded in the Cassino sector. He entered the army Feb. 10, 1941 and has been overseas since November, 1942.

Air-Borne Germans Grab Communication System in Bulgaria

Hitler Appears Ready to Kidnap Rumanian Government Next

London, March 23— (AP) — Maneuvering swiftly to caulk his Balkan dike against the Russian flood, Hitler appeared today to be about to kidnap the Rumanian government as he already has abducted that of Hungary.

There were widespread reports that Premier Ion Antonescu of Rumania has been summoned to Hitler's presence as Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Regent of Hungary, had gone before him. There was speculation that Antonescu was likely to be kicked out because of German suspicions that he was involved in peace overtures toward the soviet.

The British radio at once began broadcasting this warning to the Rumanians:

"Rumanian leaders have been called to Hitler's headquarters. If you oppose Germany, Germany will wreak vengeance on you, but if you oppose the allies an even graver fate is in store x x x. German transport is exposed and runs through Rumania. Concerted evidence of the desire to help the allies now would be the first step toward Rumania's survival".

Occupation Academic

Germany's occupation of Rumania would be largely academic except as a measure for complete political control, for the country already is little more than a German camp area.

A German foreign office spokesman, according to a Berlin broadcast, "emphatically denied" that Horthy was being held prisoner, that Premier Nicholas Kallay had escaped to southern Hungary and had sent out an appeal for help from abroad, and that Yugoslav Marshal Tito had established contact with Hungarian forces.

In the first official nazi announcement since German armed forces crossed Hungary's borders early Monday, the Berlin radio said yesterday a new government had been formed in Budapest under a Quisling premier and a German Gauleiter.

The fate of Hungary was an example for countries failing to fall in line as Hitler strove to

County Clerks to Get Assessments "At Once"

Springfield, Ill., March 23—(AP)—Legal obstructions blocking completion of 1943 tax bills by county clerks were removed today and Attorney General George F. Barrett directed the state revenue department to certify revised railroad and capital stock assessments to clerks "at once."

The state Supreme court refused today a rehearing sought by intervening railroads to compel certification of original 1943 assessments equalized on a state-wide average of 31 per cent of actual value rather than the revised 54 per cent.

Shortly thereafter the Sangamon county Circuit court vacated an injunction obtained by 18 railroads restraining the state from certifying assessments equalized at more than the original 31 per cent figure.

The revision will cost railroads about $6,000,000 in additional tax payments to downstate counties, Barrett said.

Chaplains Don't Fight But They Get Killed

Washington, March 23—(AP)—Chaplains don't fight, but they do get killed in battle.

Only the Air Forces and the Infantry have suffered a higher proportion of casualties among their officers than the Chaplain Corps, the Army reported today.

From the start of the war to the end of last year, 19 chaplains were killed in battle, 19 wounded, 33 were prisoners, one was missing in action, and 31 had died of accidents or illness.

Decorations in the Corps were evidence, too, that failure to shoot had nothing to do with heroism—85 chaplains having received a total of three distinguished service crosses, three Croix de Duere, 26 silver stars, 15 legion of merit, 39 purple hearts and four soldier medals, or 90 decorations all told.

At the end of the year there were 6,998 chaplains, 4,255 in the United States and 2,743 overseas.

Climax of Mount Vesuvius Display Is Expected Today

Pompei, March 23. — (AP) — Mount Vesuvius continued to spew volcanic ash and cinders over the surrounding area today, and although the rain of ashes was less intense in Pompei further reports indicated that crop damage was greater than at first surmised.

The eruption climax was expected today by authorities who pointed out that Vesuvius' rampages usually last five or six days. The present eruption started Saturday.

SUGGESTION

Hamilton, N. Y., March 23.—(AP)—The present eruption of Mt. Vesuvius in Italy prompted today a renewal of the suggestion by a Colgate university geology professor that Japanese volcanoes be bombed as a total war measure.

"Whether the tremendous pounding the earth has received through bombing in the vicinity of Mt. Vesuvius has had anything to do with the present eruption is highly problematical, but well within realms of possibility," Dr. Harold O. Whitnall asserted.

"Often balance between embedded cork and uprising pressure is on such hair-trigger basis that any unusual shock might cause eruption."

Whitnall's first volcano-bombing suggestion was made in January, 1942.

"By merely cracking plugs in throats of volcanoes it should be possible to release pentup pressures of molten lava which are bottled up beneath, producing not alone cataclysmic eruptions but also possible earthquakes and tidal waves," he declared.

Government's Hemp Crop Program Cut 33 Per Cent in 1944

Four Mills in Dixon Vicinity to Operate Throughout Year

Decatur, Ill., March 23—(AP)—The government sponsored program for development of hemp crops in Illilnois and five other midwest states, born of a war shortage of rope materials, this year will be cut to a third of its 1943 production record but maintained on a "stand-by for expansion" basis.

Only four of the 11 hemp mill areas in Illinois—Polo, Kirkland, Shabbona and Earlville—will grow hemp in 1944. Iowa, Minnesota, Kentucky, Indiana and Wisconsin, the other hemp growing states, likewise will reduce acreage until the total will be 60,000 acres as against 185,000 acres planted in 1943.

Fred E. Butcher, president of War Hemp Industries, Inc., the agency now administering the program, said the reduction was due to a large reserve supply of fiber in this country that has not decreased at the rate expected when the present hemp program was initiated.

Increased shipments of other rope materials previously cut off from the United States and newly developed substitute fibers have helped maintain the reserve, he said.

"The present situation," Butcher said, "is that we have an average of about 8,000 tons of hemp straw stacked at each mill site ready for processing.

Crop Brought $12,000,000

"A War Production Board's directive, however, requires us to maintain all the mills in readiness for an expanded acreage in 1945, and if the progress of the war requires an increased tonnage of fiber over the planting of 1944, we will be ready to function."

The government reports it paid 12 million dollars for last year's crop.

Butcher said the average net

Cassino Battle Is at Close Quarters

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 23—(AP)—Fifth Army forces doggedly flung back German attacks yesterday on their Cassino positions while in the air war allied bombers struck sharply at enemy supply lines in northern Italy, allied headquarters announced today.

In the southern section of the town of Cassino, New Zealanders still were engaging the enemy at close quarters.

The Germans counter-attacked against Hill 193, a key height just northwest of the town early yesterday, but were thrown back, leaving 30 prisoners in allied hands. The Germans also lunged forward in two strong attacks in a new sector—near Monte Castellone, three miles northwest of Cassino, but French troops broke up and repulsed their formations with artillery fire.

Rail lines in northern Italy were hit heavily yesterday and last night, both heavy and lighter bombers participating.

American Flying Fortresses and Liberators hit Verona and Bologna, on the route south from the Brenner Pass, as well as Rimini, important junction point on the Adriatic, midway between Venice and Ancona. Padua, west of Venice, was attacked by night-flying RAF Liberators and Wellingtons.

German planes swept low over the Cassino area, shooting up allied positions. Nazi aircraft also attacked allied shipping off the Anzio beachhead, where German artillery joined in to pump a heavy concentration into allied lines near the village of Padiglione.

Break Between United States and Finland Seems All But Inevitable

Washington, March 23.—(AP)—A break between the United States and Finland appeared today all but inevitable.

The only thing believed capable of preventing final diplomatic ruppture would be some official word that peace negotiations between the Finns and Russia have not collapsed completely.

The Finnish government was notified several days ago that the United States was reconsidering its relations with Finland.

On excellent authority it can be said that the American policy toward Finland is based on the following principles:

The United States has maintained relations with the Finns despite the fact that they are allies of Germany and enemies of Britain and Russia because American leaders thought that by so doing they would have more chance of getting Finland to quit the war.

When the point is reached where President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull decide this chance no longer exists there will be no further reason for maintaining relations. One official said today that this point must now be considered almost at hand.

A Roundup of Developments From the Nation's Capital

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, March 23—A significant reservation was attached today to legislation extending lend-lease for another year past next June 30.

Before reporting the resolution favorably, the house foreign affairs committee unanimously voted an amendment specifying in effect that congress, not the president, shall have the final say-so in working out settlements for the war materiel aid.

The move was the second important step in two days on matters of broad international assistance. Yesterday the house passed and sent to the president a bill authorizing United States participation to the extent of $1,350,000,000 in the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration (UNRRA) program for aid to liberated peoples.

NO PAYCHECK CEILING

William H. Davis, War Labor Board chairman, counseled congress today against any move to limit the total "take home" wages of war workers.

Such a move, he told a senate committee considering legislation to extend price and wage controls, which might prove "disastrous" to the war effort. Davis contended that WLB's actions on wage increase demands have not disturbed basic living costs and added that increases in actual earnings, not subject to wage rate controls, are not "inconsistent with objectives of the stabilization program."

"A limitation upon the total 'take home' earnings of the workers would amount to imposing maximum hours of work, precluding promotions and upgradings, restricting productivity under incentive systems, and preventing the shift of workers into industries", David said.

Meanwhile President Roosevelt sent up a request for an $84,948,200 appropriation to cover WMC's actiities next year. The sum is $7,076,000 more than the current regular appropriation, although the commission has expanded its activities through supplemental funds.

Great Columns of Black Smoke Seen Arising From City

Attacked by American Planes; Berlin and Frankfurt Bombed

BULLETIN

London, March 23—(AP)—Four great columns of black smoke boiled up from the French Channel port of Calais today, indicating much of the city was ablaze.

Coastal observers thought the fires probably resulted from air attacks. American Liberators attacked that area Tuesday.

London, March 23—(AP)—Striking the second day in a row in the wake of a 1,000-plane RAF night raid aimed chiefly at Frankfurt, approximately 1,500 American bombers and fighters bombarded the German air force on its home bases in western Germany today.

The air ministry announced that the RAF dropped more than 3,360 tons of bombs on Frankfurt last night—the greatest bomb load yet dumped on a single target.

The American raiding force, which included upwards of 500 Fortresses and Liberators, bombed the Brunswick district, the aircraft park at Werl, 40 miles east of Essen, Achmer air force station in Oldenburg to the south and the German bomber base at Handorf, a U. S. Army Air Force announcement said.

The German air force, which avoided battle when 600 or more Fortresses and Liberators blasted Berlin in daylight yesterday, apparently rose to the bait of the bold attack today for the German radio said "violent" air combats were fought with the extraordinary large number of fighters which accompanied the bombers.

First reports of the daylight aerial invasion came from the Germans who said in their broadcast that bombers were following up yesterday's Berlin smash with blows at the western, central and northwestern Reich. Berlin also was harassed last night by Mosquitos.

33 Planes Missing

Altogether, the RAF announced, 33 aircraft were missing in the night operations. This was 11 more than in the last 1,000-plane attack when Frankfurt also was the main target on Saturday.

Probably well over 3,000 tons of bombs fell on Frankfurt. The RAF hit unusually early, around 10:45 p. m., and unloaded showers of blockbusters for about half an hour.

An hour after it was over Mosquitos saw huge expanses of fire—into which they unloaded more high explosives—and columns of smoke soaring a mile high.

A U. S. communique last night announced loss of 13 bombers and nine fighters on the Berlin foray. It was estimated the bombers dropped about 1,500 tons of explosives on various military targets.

The German air force, heavily damaged in other raids in recent weeks, offered virtually no opposition as the Americans swept over the German capital although anti-aircraft fire was described as intense.

Stewart in Command

Commander of one Liberator combat wing was Maj. James Stewart, former film star. It was his 11th mission but his first visit to Berlin. Asked if the mission was any more unusual than the others, he exclaimed:

"Patton Incident" is Closed, Says Simpson

Washington, March 23.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said emphatically today he considered "the Patton incident" closed.

Asked at a press conference if Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr. has been relieved of command of the U. S. Seventh Army in Italy, (now headed by Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch) because of his slapping of an American soldier in a hospital during the Sicilian campaign, Stimson said:

"No, he has not, he has been assigned to the command of another Army."

Another reporter asked: "Do you consider the Patton incident closed?"

"I do," Stimson replied.

The identity of Patton's new command has not yet been disclosed.

Leaves from an AP War Correspondent's Notebook

By GEORGE TUCKER

(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

Naples, March 19.—(Delayed)—(AP)—To appreciate Anzio it is necessary to remember that the beachhead is shaped like a fan, the handle of which is a sort of funnel. The Germans are spread out all around the fan and their idea of fun is to see how many shells they can pour through the funnel.

Naturally, there are a lot of buildings at the end of the funnel and when you pour artillery fire into a bunch of buildings some of them are going to be hit.

Right now the big argument on the beach is whether those shells have a "booster" charge that explodes while they're still on their way, or whether its a vacuum that gives off that scratching noise as they pass over your head. The subject is very controversial, and old friends have become bitter over the point.

I wouldn't pretend to know which it is, but I do know they always wait until they're right over your head before they do whatever it is they do.

During dinner the other night some captain from Boston told Ernie Pyle he knew it was vacuum.

"Well," said Pyle, "it's the first time I ever saw a vacuum throw shrapnel."

Every square inch of the beachhead is in range of enemy fire and the Germans can bring artillery to bear on any given point at any given moment of the day or night, and they generally do. They toss shells in continually and they kill men every time they do.

Perhaps this imminence of danger has something to do with it, but it seemed to me that nowhere in the war have I known men who were more genuine or more sincere.

One minute an amphibious Duck flounders out of the harbor and rolls down past us to some secret duck-haven where supplies are unloaded. The next moment a Belgian Spitfire alights on the little parklike runway near the sea, where emergency repairs are made on momentarily distressed planes. Always these incidents are punctuated by the crack of German cannon fire.

The men who make these repairs have dug themselves a subterranean city and spring out of their holes when the planes come in, readying them for immediate flight. Most of the time they get away with it.

Out in the lines the men say anybody who lives in Anzio is crazy. They much prefer the forward areas to city life.

REPUBLICAN LEADERSHIP

Rep. Mason, the Illinois Republican, has exploded the New Deal's doctrine of indispensability in a notable speech which followed the Republican victory in the special congressional election in Colorado.

As might be expected, the new leadership in the house of representatives, of which congressmen and the people can be proud, is coming from the middle western delegation. Rep. Chiperfield of Illinois declared at a recent hearing of the house foreign affairs committee that the spending of lend-lease billions to "reform the world" cannot be tolerated any longer if there is to be anything left of America. Rep. Johnson, another member of the Illinois Republican delegation, in a speech on the house floor, showed how New Deal despotism at home has weakened America and how Mr. Roosevelt's international Santa Claus policy is leading us "toward bankruptcy." He was joined by Rep. Woodruff of Michigan, who declared that "if Franklin Delano Roosevelt and his White House cabal can achieve a fourth term free government will be so far gone in this nation that it will be a question of whether or not the people can rescue it without a revolution."

These congressmen are speaking out for their country and they have the people with them, as the results of the congressional by-elections since the 1942 Republican sweep prove. Too many congressmen stand intimidated before Mr. Roosevelt and his tremendous burocratic and dictatorial power. It is power without a source, however, for the people have renounced the new deal. The timid congressmen will fall with the New Dealers when the people assert their will Nov. 7.

The house can take pride in its Republican leadership. The greatest danger America faces today is the possibility that Republican leadership may weaken and that the Republican national convention may fall into the hands of a combination of New York international bankers and Communists.—Chicago Tribune.

Check of Prices in All Eating Houses in District Is Planned

During the next six weeks a comprehensive check of prices charged the public in every eating and drinking establishment in this district will be made under the direction of the Price Panel of each War Price and Rationing Board, Chairman O. H. Martin, chairman of the Lee County War Price and Rationing Board announced today. The program is another step in the drive to bring about compliance with OPA regulations.

Price Panels and price panel clerks in local boards have been requested by the district office first to obtain complete filing of menus or price lists from all such establishments in the board's area, Harper said. Each panel is asked to obtain a complete list of eating and drinking places. It will then check its files to see that all such businesses have filed with the board their menus for the base period, April 4-10, 1943, signed by the proprietor.

If there is a question in the panel's mind as to the validity of the menus filed, it shall require the proprietor to certify to the validity by a statement written thereon.

A letter will be sent over the signature of the price panel chairman to each establishment which has not filed at all or has filed inadequately, requesting them to do so at once. Those who do not meet this requirement will be asked to appear before the price panel of their local board.

When all filings have been obtained, the next stop will be checking current price in eating and drinking places with those filed for the base period.

Chicago—(AP)—The owner of a loop tobacco store who closed his shop when he went to a hospital for a checkup left a sign on the door—intended for would-be burglars.

It read: "Burglars attention! Money and valuables removed. In hospital. Back in a week, I hope."

Fourth Chapter of Gallicchio's Story of Dixon Is Heard

Patty Gallicchio's fourth broadcast about Dixon on the North-Western's "400 Hour", station WMAQ, at 7:30 o'clock this morning follows. The fifth chapter of his story will be on the air tomorrow at the same time.

On February 29, 1839 (thats what the books say, although February is not supposed to have 29 days in a year that ends with "9")—but anyway—on that date—Lee county was created by the general assembly, and Dixon was made the county seat. And in 1840 a court house was built—at a cost of $7000—paid for by donations. Father Dixon, the book says, gave eighty acres of land. Oh yes—and the jail was built that same year! Apparently business was booming in Dixon, because the United States Land Office was moved here from Galena in 1840.

An election was held on March 20, 1843, to decide whether Dixon should incorporate as a village—and 44 votes were cast, all IN FAVOR OF the momentous step. A union Sunday school was established that year, and the records show that it had "eight teachers, sixty scholars, and a library of ninety volumes".

A toll bridge was built across the Rock river, in the fall and winter of 1846-7, at the foot of Ottawa street—but in the spring a freshet came along and swept away the north half of the bridge. This, however, was rebuilt the following summer. And then what do you think? Another flood came along in 1849 and took away the SOUTH half of the bridge!

In 1850, according to the record, farm hands around Dixon were paid $12 a month; laborers drew 63c a day with board, or 75c a day WITHOUT board. That's what you call a liberal food allowance, isn't it? Carpenters, however, earned $1.50 a day, and female domestics received $1.25 A WEEK! Board for laborers was available at $1.50 per week. And the first newspaper appeared on May 1st, 1851! Which is a good place to leave Dixon until tomorrow.

Randolph Paul Quits Treasury Department

Washington, March 23—(AP)—Randolph Paul bowed out of the administration's turbulent tax scene today in an anti-climax to the treasury's losing fight for $8,000,000,000 in additional wartime revenue.

Paul, who left a lucrative practice as a corporation tax attorney to become Secretary Morgenthau's chief tax advisor and later treasury general counsel as well, submitted his resignation to President Roosevelt yesterday.

A White House announcement of its acceptance late in the day came as a surprise despite recurrent reports that Paul would quit because of a widening breach between him and Morgenthau.

PRISON IS EASIER

Oklahoma City—(AP)—A District court jury agreed on the prisoner's punishment and returned to the courtroom with the verdict but neglected to specify where sentence would be served.

"You see, judge, "explained the jury foreman, "no one on the jury knew how to spell 'penitentiary' and that is the reason we left it off."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Washington—Hitler's seizure of Hungary means he will move his armies into the great 500-mile-long natural fortification of the Carpathian mountains. There he can establish an almost impenetrable barrier on his southeastern flank.

But this will not save him, not even for a time. True, he no doubt will keep his advance front line along the Dniester river as long as he can and use the mountain line only as a place for the next retreat.

But the Russians already have broken across the narrower stretches of the stream near the Polish border, and intend to go rolling straight south on that bank to threaten his Dniester line from the rear. A big fight for Odessa, however, probably will come first.

But the Russians will not pound their heads against the Carpathians, even when they have cleared Odessa and the Dniester line. A more inviting route straight into Germany lies through Lwow (pronounced wolf). A spearhead movement is now driving toward that south Polish center.

Even better than this prospect, however, is the Red position approaching Brest-Litovsk. There, they can cut the main rail line supporting the German positions far to the northwest in front of Minsk.

The Russian tactical situation, therefore, again is nearly perfect, and the nazi position is deteriorating faster.

Henry Ford obviously was not speaking of this situation when he predicted the war would be over in 60 days. It may take that long for the above forecast developments to come to realization.

Furthermore, in all the German retreats in southern Russia, the German armies have been preserved. Various segments have been captured, and probably another capture is now imminent at Nikolayev in front of Odessa.

But the southern army itself remains a grimly fighting whole. Of course, it is always possible for it to collapse any day, but the experience of this winter offers no more ground for such expectations now.

Our believable reports on German morale also fail to substantiate Ford's hopeful prediction. While revolutions may be imminent in the Balkans, the German armies are fighting with exceptional vigor, not only in Russia, but in Italy.

Their resistance against us in the ruins of Cassino, for instance, was amazing. Here, in a village hardly a mile square, we poured heavy bombing attacks on a scale far beyond anything ever witnessed in the Mediterranean before. Not a stone was left unturned, yet days later we had been unable to capture the city.

The explanation for this is that air bombing has its limitations. It does an effective job in long range attacks on Germany and was used effectively against us as an attacking force on the open beachheads. But when aimed against seasoned veterans on defense, men who are willing to fight, it cannot work the same wonders.

A ruined village offers just as many opportunities for defense as one unbombed; in fact, better opportunities for light gun operations, because building destruction clears areas of fire, and the rubble offers as much protection as the standing houses.

Probably every German in that square mile area was killed by our bombing, or shocked into uselessness. Yet the determined nazis were able to move in reinforcements and heavy machine guns from their adjoining forces.

We could not bypass the place and go on, because the nazis held the mountains to the west and north, and had good positions in a network of streams (swollen at this time of the year) eastward toward the ocean.

Therefore, we had to break that bottleneck and got cut in doing it, solely because of grim, nazi fighting determination and defensive ingenuity.

Next to start is Finders Keepers, a musical quiz conducted by Ted Cott, veteran of such programs, set for April 6. Last on the list is a Trans-Atlantic quiz, for Saturday afternoons from April 15, in which Americans in Great Britain will be questioned from London and British nationals in this country queried from New York. Lightnings to London

By Capt. Bernard W. Crandell

Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.

Shipping losses were up in March, 1942, and P-38 fighter planes were not getting to England in sufficient quantity. It was decided to fly them across the Atlantic via Labrador, Greenland and Iceland—a daring and novel project. Bombers had been flown over but never fighters. This is the story of how it was done.

INTERFERENCE FROM THE LUFTWAFFE

THERE were other incidents which took place between Iceland and the United Kingdom, ranging from the P-38 pilot who insisted on doing slow rolls to keep himself awake, to the one who ran out of oxygen at 19,000 feet and had to suck on his bail-out cylinder for the last 15 minutes of the journey in.

There was an airline ferry pilot, too, who added an exciting and totally unexpected page to his log book. Major Weltman, commanding a squadron, found one of his pilots ill shortly before the scheduled take-off. He and his mechanics had labored for 25 hours to repair the P-38, and wanted to take it along.

He sauntered into Operations Office. His eyes wandered over the assortment of flight control officers, pilots, and casual bystanders until they rested upon an airline pilot who had been with one of the Fortresses.

"How would you like to fly a P-38?" Weltman asked him

"How would you like to go climb a rope?" the pilot replied, backing away toward the door.

"There really isn't anything to it," Weltman assured him, moving into the doorway to block the only means of exit.

No further details of the conversation are available, but when the dust had cleared, the pilot, who previously had flown nothing "hotter" than a C-47 transport, was getting a 10-minute cockpit check-off in the Lightning. Within another half hour he was behind the wheel of a Lockheed fighter bound for the United Kingdom. He made a perfect landing at the end of the trip, and was so elated he asked permission to fly the Lightning again. Permission was granted.

AUGUST 15, 1942, started out no differently than any other day of routine business for the airmen at the Iceland base. Mechanics tinkered over some of the fighters, or lolled in the shade of their wings. Pilots rocked back in rickety chairs in Operations Office. One or two were on patrol. Some of them, off duty, were napping in a Nissen hut.

Then a telephone jangled. An officer lifted the receiver, listened a moment, then gave the alarm. A German Focke-Wulf "Kurier," a four-engined machine on reconnaissance, was reported over Iceland.

MAJOR WELTMAN was out of the Operations building and into a P-38 before the surprised control officer had set down the receiver. Another Lightning and a Curtiss P-40 were already in the air when the Kurier was spotted. Operations immediately radioed them a vector on which they would intercept the intruder.

Weltman was the first to see the enemy ship as it suddenly changed course, and taking full advantage of the cloud cover, he thundered over the airdrome. He "poured the Coal" to both Allisons and charged his guns.

The Nazi gunners aboard the Kurier were also ready. As Weltman closed in and fired, they traded shot for shot. Within a few minutes the Lightning received hits in the armament assembly, putting all four guns out of commission. Then an engine was shot out.

By this time the other P-38, flown by Lieut. Elza Shahan, and the P-40 had finally located the German air monster. Weltman turned back to the airdrome in his crippled plane, while Shahan and the other fighter pilot pressed home the attack.

Shahan made one pass. Then the P-40 bored in, knocking out the Kurier's left inboard engine.

Pilot Shahan executed a chandelle, returned to position, and swept in close for a deflection, rather than a direct shot. There was no gunner on the side of the German aircraft he was approaching, and when the P-38 had reached a distance of less than 100 yards from the target, he pressed the button. Four deadly streams of .50 caliber tracer, incendiary, and armor-piercing bullets slashed into the hulk of the Luftwaffe behemoth.

Shahan had planned on diving beneath his target, but with the roar of a thunderclap it blew up practically in his face. It was too late to turn, and he flew on through the bits of flying wreckage. His Lightning was pretty well scarred-up by the debris, but otherwise it was in shape to continue on to the United Kingdom for many more matches with the German Air Force. And so was Lieutenant Shahan.

Shahan had set a ball rolling that was to grow ever larger by the day. The Kurier which he had knocked out of the skies over Iceland was the first German aircraft to be destroyed by an American of the U. S. Army Air Forces during World War II.

Lieutenant Shahan was awarded the Silver Star.

Dixon Travel Club Hears Mrs. Mason Talk on Hawaii

The Dixon Travel club met Tuesday evening in the Ladies' Lounge of the Loveland Community House. The meeting was opened by the president, then turned over to the hostesses, Mrs. R. H. Harridge and the Misses Gladys and Ethel Jameson.

Mrs. Harridge introduced the speaker for the evening, Mrs. Joseph C. Mason, who then spoke on the subject "Before and After Pearl Harbor". She told of the many interesting changes which have taken place in Hawaii since Pearl Harbor and also of the old life in Hawaii. In Honolulu alone, there are over 50 USO stations. Portuguese, Hawaiian, Japanese and Chinese girls are working together in them. "Many beautiful old homes have been given over to the army and navy for recreation centers", said Mrs. Mason.

She also spoke of the servant problem as being just as drastic there as here on the mainland, for all able women are working in defense plants. The Hawaiian women instead of weaving mats and fish nets as in the past, are weaving camouflage nets. She explained that Japanese are not isolated as in California, but are free to go about as usual. Many American-born Japs have enlisted and are fighting in Italy at the present time.

Mr. Mason explained how the islands for 15 months had been under military rule by request, of the food shortages and difficulty they are having in the islands with such a tremendous addition in the population of service men. As in her previous talks recently, she described the beauty of Hawaii and of its background and history which is so colorful.

ART EXHIBIT

Phidian Art club members, sponsors of the Dixon Public school art exhibit now holding forth at the Loveland Community House, have made arrangements for the exhibit to be held over through Saturday so that members of the Dixon Woman's club may have the opportunity of viewing the exhibit between the hours of 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon following their regular meeting.

REBEKAH LODGE

Minnie Bell Rebekah lodge will have a scramble supper for members and their families Friday evening in Odd Fellows hall. Those attending are to furnish their own table service, sandwiches and a dish of food to pass, also an article for a white elephant sale. Coffee will be furnished by the committee.

A program planned by the committee in charge will follow the supper.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS

Mrs. Ida Tetrick will entertain Royal Neighbors at the Loveland Community House this evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Minnie Miller and Mrs. Sam Mall will be co-hostesses.

For Easter---

Three-Act Comedy to Be Presented at High School

"My Heart's in High," one of Anne Coulter Martens' latest hits, is a new three-act comedy which wil be pleasing to everyone when the play is presented by the Dramatic club of the Dixon high school.

The cast, chosen from the Dramatic club of the high school, promises to give a heart-rendering performance, Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The play is a realistic portrayal of characters that have been drawn with a good deal of observation of American family life. It's a story of Commencement Day in the life of Dorie, known formally as Theodora Lawrence. Because of a gypsy's prophecy, Dorie is determined to dedicate her life toward bringing beauty into the lives of others.

Just how she will do this has not yet been decided by Dorie when she finds that she is being considered for first prize in a contest for house designing, just one of the many contests she is always entering. Don't think it is a simple solution, though, because Theodora Lawrence, Theodora A., has won the contest and Mr. Sherman, president of the firm sponsoring the contest, definitely doesn't like girls.

But Dorie's career isn't all that's troubling her; there's her love life, and her complex family life, all mixed up with just enough wholesome spice added to keep you laughing 'til the tears roll down your face.

Stepping forward to claim their laurels, we find, first, Darlene Lambert as Dorie, the irrepressable daughter. Second, Al Jenks, playing opposite her as Bart Johnson, the college senior and old standby, who, every time he tries to tell her he's in love with her, gets quite confused.

Dona Pieshel as Perky, Dorie's twelve-year-old sister, has only one wish on her mind, to be utterly ravishing. Alice Schmidt portrays Aunt Emily, the spry old lady of seventy-two, who has come to see her favorite grandniece graduate, and manages to keep her finger in all the pies at the same time. Lois Selgestad as Elva, Dorie's mother, is a creative artist who keeps the family in an uproar with her creating a new dress for every mood she enters, and generally makes life miserable for Leonidas, Loren Wilson, her hen-pecked husband who turns lion in the end.

Then there's Philip Reilly as Mr. Sherman, woman hater, who returns to the comparative safety of his New York office after a brief twirl on the Lawrence merry-go-round.

Lewis Drummond and Wayne Frazer will provide plenty of laughs in their roles as Freddie and Dash, two boys in Dorie's class who believe they are madly in love with her. It takes Mary Lou Williams and Eleanor Jones, as Dot and Kitsie, two of Dorie's friends at school, to show them that it isn't Dorie that they're in love with at all.

Miss Charlotte Dethart of the Dixon high school faculty is directing the play, and her assistant director is Elaine Ommen. Barbara Hoon is the prompter.

The production staff includes Dick Brown, stage manager; Rus-

PRACTICAL CLUB HEARS MRS. WARE SPEAK ON GLASS

The Practical club met Monday at the home of Mrs. John Byers for a 1:30 dessert luncheon, which was served from a lace covered table with spring flowers for a centerpiece. After a business meeting the club listened to a paper given by Mrs. William Ware, her topic being "Glass."

Glass making is actually one of the worlds oldest crafts, but much of the real science of glass-container manufacture, is only a few years old. The modern glassmaker starts with the same materials nature used to make quartz. The two basic elements required are silica (sand) and alkali, such as soda ash and potash or both. Today other raw materials are added.

The story of glass making is one to which all peoples of the world have added chapters. Glass manufacturers say little about what postwar obstacles they expect. For the present the war comes first. At least in national advertising, one of them makes it clear that glass has no voluntary intention of taking a back seat.

A pleasant afternoon was spent in hearing Mrs. Ware speak on such an interesting subject. A social hour followed.

MARION READING CIRCLE

The Marion Reading circle met Tuesday at the home of Kathryn Morrissey. Book reports were given by Margaret Blackburn and Celia Blackburn. At the social hour prizes were awarded to Celia Blackburn, Edna Dempsey, Blanche Pillars and Aileen Wolf.

theater is expected to play a heavy role.

Japanese pressure appeared to be growing along the whole Burma front, although headquarters here said allied troops were converging on the enemy invasion columns in India.

Japanese activity was especially noticeable to the south on the coastal plain below Maungdaw in Arakan and in the western foothills of the Mayu mountain range, the communique said, with allied bombers and fighters maintaining a ceaseless offensive against objectives in these areas, as well as positions in the Chindwin valley, the Chin hills and Kaladan.

once more toward the political situation, as Maine and Louisiana prepared to lead off tomorrow in a seven-state series of political conventions and primaries that will name 217 Republican and 142 Democratic delegates for the national conventions before April 1. Other state selections by the end of this month will be in Minnesota, New York, Iowa, Kansas and Arizona.

MANPOWER

The War Production Board, Army and Navy do not plan to recommend men under 26 for industrail deferments unless the items they are working on are rated as "critical" and urgently required to meet immediate war objectives it was learned today.

An extremely tough policy, laying heavy emphasis on requirement for invasion weapons, was indicated in a letter tentatively drawn by C. E. Wilson, chairman of the Production Executive Committee, to be sent to manufacturers, telling them exactly what to do if they have young men in the critical programs whom they believe to be irreplacable.

Informed sources said the letter in subject to possible changes by the representatives of WPB, Army, Navy and War Manpower Commission on the Production Executive Committee. This committee has been working out machinery by which state draft directors will be guided in deciding which men under 26 they will earmark for deferment.

War Programs Included

But as it stood today, the war programs to be included were:

Landing craft, including "ducks"; synthetic rubber and 100-octane-gasoline plants; tires and tubes, both for aircraft and combat and heavy-duty trucks and buses, including necessary tire cord, fabric and molds; High tenacity rayon for war products; Certain airplanes; Certain types of radar; Certain submarine plants; And a secret weapon.

Two branches of the aviation industry—transport and engine manufacture—today spoke up for continued draft deferments for young skilled employes, asserting in both cases that more than a fourth of their technical workers were under 27 years of age.

Meanwhile there were these other developments in the turbulent military and civilan manpower situation:

1) The Army announced the transfer to ground duty of 36,000 young men who had been earmarked for air training—an effort to make up for a general shortage of ground forces.

2) A high military official reported that draft boards had been failing for 13 months to meet the calls of the armed forces and asserted that "the time has arrived when we must have the fighting men we need".

3) Plans were made for congressional inquiry into charges that the draft has been used as a lever to force farmers into government agricultural programs.

In transfering the 36,000 candidates for flight training to ground duty the Air Forces also announced new enlistments of 17-year-olds in the Air Corps enlisted reserve had been temporarily suspended. However, training of those already enrolled will continue and these reserve enlistments will be resumed at a future date. Applications may still be filed by the 17-year-olds during the suspension.

AIR

American Airlines, Inc., is seeking to acquire control of American Export Airlines, Inc., and there are indications that a titanic struggle may come about among American interests for commercial air spremacy over the Atlantic. The proposed transfer of control is certain to intensify activity in Washington concerned with U. S. postwar international air transport policy.

SUGAR

Present estimates indicate that housewives will receive about the same amount of sugar this year as they received in 1943 and that the commodity will remain on the ration list for some time—at least through the year.

OIL

The senate's new 11-man oil committee today began an investigation of plans for a pipeline to transport oil products from the Persian Gulf area to the Mediterranean. The project has been condemned by Senator Moore (R-Okla) as an attempt of the administration to get into the private oil business. Meanwhile a report by a U. S. technical mission tells of enormous oil deposits in the locale of the proposed line.

Next Loan 16 Billions—

Washington, March 23.—(AP)—A $16,000,000,000,000 goal has been fixed for the Fifth War Loan, Secretary Morgenthau disclosed today, "because we need it for the war and because we've been assured that we can get it." The treasury chief told his press conference he wanted to correct "an unauthorized impression" that the goal would be $14,000,000,000, same as the Fourth War Loan which brought in $16,730,000,000.

Seeks His Freedom—

Walter Gahm has filed a petition for a habeas corpus hearing in the Lee county Circuit court in which he names the Dixon State hospital and Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer, as defendants. The petition states that Gahm was committed as feeble minded from the Winnebago County court at Rockford on Oct. 18, 1940, and contends that he is not feeble minded. Judge George C. Dixon has set the case for hearing in the Circuit court at 10 o'clock on the morning of March 29.

Fugitive Is Captured—

Farmers living northeast of Amboy notified Sheriff L. E. Bates this morning about 10:30 o'clock that a shabbily dressed Negro was wandering about the buildings on several farms and appeared to be demented. The sheriff and Deputy Henry Wilson responded to the alarm and with the assistance of farmers, cornered the Negro in a field. He gave the name of Frank Henney, 16, of Chicago, and stated that he escaped from the paint shop at the Dixon state hospital Wednesday morning. He was unable to explain where he had spent the night and was returned to the state hospital, where he has been a patient for about 18 months.

Occupy Russian Embassy

A Daily Mail dispatch from Madrid said German airborne troops were seizing Bulgaria's railways and communications systems and had detained the soviet ambassador and occupied the embassy in Sofia. Bulgaria and Russia have remained at peace although on opposite sides in the world conflict.

Londen dispatches from Ankara quoted rumors there that Hitler had promised Rumanian Premier Ion Antonescu immediate return of Transylvania from Hungary as one inducement for full collaboration.

A Vichy broadcast heard by The Associated Press said Antonescu had gone to Hitler's headquarters for "important discussions".

A DNB propaganda broadcast said steps taken in Hungary "are exclusively meant to help the concentrating of all forces and means available in Europe on the task of meeting the common danger and of preventing the possibility of soviet infiltration"—a statement that suggested Hitler now would try to throw Hungary's troops, estimated at 300,000, against the bulging Russian lines.

At the sixteenth pole, Gregory had considered further. $500", he said finally.

The capture of Pervomaisk, announced last night, was the first crumbling of the outer defenses to Odessa, seventh largest Russian city and the only one of size still held by the Germans.

Northwest of Odessa, the soviets pressed down the Odessa-Lwow railroad, already having neutralized the east-west railway through Slobodzeye.

London, March 23—(AP)—The German high command said today that fighting was going on inside Kovel and northwest of that center below the Pripet marshes in the eastern part of old Poland—approximately 50 miles beyond the announced positions of the Red army.

A new Russian offensive southeast of Vitebsk on the other side of the marshes also was reported by the Germans.

this war—not without success—and that it implies no pact or bargain with our enemies." He left it to those new consultations among the "principal" allies to deal with this pressing problem which is as full of explosive as a block-buster.

The further the war has progressed the more evident it has become that there will have to be some "adaption' 'of the declaration of self-determination in certain cases. This means heartburnings for some nations.

Only last week there was an attack on the Atlantic Charter in the House of Commons on the ground that "where it is not platitudinous" the declaration "contains principles highly dangerous to the British and allied cause." A motion supported by seventy members to debate the Charter was turned down by Premier Churchill, unless the hostile members wished to make it the subject of a "vote of censure" of the government—which they did not.

An illuminating exposition of one strong trend of thought about the Charter in Britain was given by the London Times in an editorial last Monday. It should be noted that this great paper often has been inspired in its utterances, although it isn't the official mouthpiece of the government.

"Whatever may have been true in past centuries," said the Times, "the division of Europe today into twenty or thirty sovereign independent units, owing no allegiance to any higher authority, is incompatible with the military security and economic well-being of the European peoples. This is a hard, irrefutable fact. To attempt to override it on the grounds of any general theory of self-determination would be an act not of high political principle but of political madness."

We are as I see it on the verge of a period of hard-boiled and sometimes harsh realities. What the big three—America, Britain and Russia—have to iron out is whether there's any clash between idealism and these stern realities. While one can foresee headaches and heartaches, nothing has arisen thus far to challenge the broad general principles of the original declarations.

However, nothing has happened either to alter the trend towards division of the world into spheres of influence over which will preside the dominant nations.

Berlin, didn't we?"

Mustang, Thunderbolt and Lightning fighters from both the Eighth and Ninth Air Forces flew as escorts, and "circled Berlin for a considerable period" daring the Germans to come up and fight, the communique said.

On the homeward journey, the fighters swept away from the four-engined craft and shot up airdromes, railway transport and other targets in Germany and enemy vessels along the coast. Even on these side journeys the fighters failed to sight any enemy planes except for one bomber which was destroyed as it tried to get into the air.

A Stockholm dispatch to the London Daily Herald said the American bomber fleet had flashed a radio warning while en route that it was coming to Berlin.

profit to some 15,000 farmers who had to be sold on the idea of growing hemp, was about $90 per acre in the 42 mill areas in the six states participating. "We have many instances of unusually good land and other favorable conditions with a net profit of from $150 to $215 per acre," he said.

Hemp grows in good corn land. The Agricultural Adjustment Agency and the U. S. Soil Conservation Service selected the mill areas upon their typography, moisture and drainage and the government erected hemp processing plants in each area.

May Be Permanent

Farmers in those areas were called upon by the AAA to sign contracts, if they desired, to raise part of the hemp crop.

In Lexington, Ill., mill area, 235 farmers planted the crop and averaged about $95 per acre with a top return of $208 to one grower.

Stacks of hemp at the Lexington mill look like a grass hut village set down on the broad prairie. Ralph O. Dueringer manager of the mill situated in McLean county, says the stacks are worth $316,987.

The mill is to start processing in April but the Lexington mill area will not produce a 1944 hemp crop.

Butcher, commenting on the post-war use of the mills, said "they are all located in fertile farming areas where agriculture is the dominant interest, and without a doubt some permanent production based on agriculture will finally result at every one of these plants.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 23.—(AP)—Trying to build up Allie Stolz as a clever boxer for tonight's scrap with Tippy Larkin, ballyhoo artist Harry Markson typed these lines: "Old-timers enjoy watching Stolz perform. He reminds them of the great fighters of the past. He once spent four hours with Frank Erne, former lightweight champion, studying one little move. But he perfected it." . . . Nat Fleischer recalls Kid McCoy telling how he worked for hours at a time, day after day, on his famous corkscrew punch. And finally after three years he concluded he had mastered the blow . . . Maybe that's why there aren't any 4-F Kid McCoys around these days.

TEAMMATES

When Bert Kenmuir, who signed to pitch for the Oakland Pacific Coast League baseball club this year, was heading for training camp at San Bernardino, Calif., the friend who was driving suggested that they pick up another Oakland player . . . The newcomer, infielder Howard Anderson, started a conventional acknowledgement of the introduction then burst out "Guadalcanal and." . . . "The naval hospital at Oak Knoll," Kenmuir completed the sentence . . . Both former sailors, they had met at Guadalcanal and later in the hospital after Kenmuir had suffered an abdominal wound from shrapnel and Anderson had been brought down by malaria . . . They hadn't learned each others' names then, though both were Los Angeles boys . . . To complete the coincidence, both played for the Hollywood Stars part of last season, but not at the same time . . . Now they're roommates at the Oaks' camp and hope to remain together through the season.

SERVICE DEPT.

Three months after she was commissioned a Marine lieutenant, golfer Patty Berg returned to Camp Lejeune, N. C., leading 174 women recruits—which is at least par although Patty hasn't played a round of golf since she enlisted.

Daily Review of Activities of Those Seeking Office

Sheboygan, Wis., March 23.—(AP)—A change is needed in the national administration, says Wendell L. Willkie, and one of the reasons, he believes, is that the "present administration has been in power too long, far too long to bode well for the welfare of the American people."

Addressing a rally last night as he continued his Wisconsin campaign in behalf of delegates pledged to him the state primary April 4, Willkie asserted:

"Men in power so long become corrupted by the power itself. The administration is tired and cynical and disregardful of the welfare of the people."

The 1940 Republican presidential nominee told the rally that he wants the GOP to win in this year's election and advocated a greater effort in the war and greater cooperation with the rest of the world.

The Republican party must take the position for winning the war completely and absolutely, he said, for cooperation with other nations for the preservation of peace and promotion of economic advantages, for restoration of a society in which individuals have a chance to go ahead, and for paying the cost of the war now to the limit but sharply reducing taxation thereafter.

In an earlier speech at Manitowoc, the presidential candidate outlined an eight-point program for post-war America and asserted it would help provide jobs for mustered out soldiers and displaced war workers as well as continuing social advances with a rising standard of living.

He said he favored maintenance of a high wage level after the war, stating he disagreed with "those who believe that after the war there should be a deflation of wages."

Willkie planned to speak at rallies at Kenosha and Racine today, his sixth day of his scheduled 12-day tour of the state.

FIVE FLIERS KILLED

Albuquerque, N. M., March 23—(AP)—Second Lt. Carl William Helstrom of Moline, Ill., was killed with four other airmen in the crash of a B-24 bomber yesterday about four miles east of Kirtland Field.

TODAY on the HOME FRONT

by JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

TODAY ON THE.. . .. .

Washington, March 23—(AP)—Housewives will get just about as much sugar this year as last and there is no prospect sugar will go off the ration list by year's end.

Military needs have increased. More sugar has to be diverted to making industrial alcohol for synthetic rubber. But the total sugar supply in 1944 will be about the same as in 1943.

All this adds up to less sugar for the American home front as a whole. But housewives are not expected to feel the pinch.

The government is making up the shortage by cutting down on some industrial users, like makers of ice cream.

Shipping is still a prime bottleneck.

That is a main reason why sugar is likely to stay rationed through 1944 unless there is a great—and fairly quick—improvement in our military fortunes, like the surrender of Germany.

Ships are needed to take military supplies abroad as the European war moves toward a climax. That means fewer ships for bringing sugar into this country, which imports much of its supply.

The War Food Administration, which allocates our sugar, has based its calculations for the year on arrangements it has worked out with the military authorities—the number of ships it can count on in 1944 for bringing sugar from places like Puerto Rico, Cuba, Hawaii.

Therefore, although more sugar might be obtained if more ships were available, WFA is counting on a total of 6,529,098 tons obtained at home and abroad. This is about as much sugar as we handled in 1943.

In 1943, however, 5,400,000 tons were turned over to the home front. This year it will be 5,074,906.

(As explained above: To keep the housewives from feeling this cut, some industrial users will get less sugar.)

The remaining 1,454,192 tons of the total supply will go to the armed forces, lend-lease and the alcohol makers.

The reason the alcohol makers get more:

Last year much grain had been used in making alcohol for synthetic rubber. The government found it would have to reduce the amount of grain diverted to that use. So sugar was picked to fill the gap.

Thursday, March 30, has been the date set for the Fourth Quarterly conference this year. Dr. Skinner will be present for this meeting.

Next Sunday the Steward church will join the other churches of Methodism in observing the Day of Consecration as a climax of the period when the emphasis has been on the Christian's participation in the New World Order. During the past several months many letters have gone from Steward expressing the sentiments of the citizens regarding hopes in general or definite attitudes regarding proposals now up before Congress. In most cases those addressed have sent replies.

The choir, which meets Thursday evening, is preparing special numbers for Easter and the pre-Easter season.

Army's Bureau of Personal Effects Has Ticklish Job

Distribution of Dead Soldiers' Property Provides Problems

Kansas City, March 23.—(AP)—Every week or so, a switch engine shoves a couple of boxcars up to a big white 11-story building, once a national mail order house but now the Kansas City quartermaster depot with two floors devoted to the Army's Personal Effects Bureau. The boxcars bring here, for distribution to relatives, the personal effects of United States soldiers who have died or been killed, captured or listed as missing—the trinkets they treasured, their letters, their money.

Lt. Col. John R. Murphy, who under Col. C. J. Blake, the depot's commanding officer, has been in charge of the bureau through its two years of existence, says it takes six months to a year—and three entries in the big files—to complete the final record on many soldiers. Their money usually arrives first; next may be the billfolds, pictures and letters they had with them when they died; finally comes the articles left in their quarters when they went out to their last battle.

The bureau has had to feel its way along, for its without a precedent, so far as Colonel Murphy knows. During the last war, the personal effects were cleared through Hoboken, N. J., and several other points, and the difficulties encountered were almost as great as the variety of articles shipped home. This time it was decided to have one distributing point, centrally located.

Here's Procedure

Most cases cause little trouble. The property is received, the next of kin is found, and the effects are sent on by mail, express or freight. (If the package weighs less than four pounds, the post office department carries it free.)

All this would be as cold and impersonal as death itself if Colonel Murphy didn't believe that this bureau should utilize something more than just another form letter. As he wrote to a congressman who inquired about the bureau: "I am ever conscious that we here at the bureau are dealing with wives, mothers and fathers who have made, through the loss of their husband or son, a tremendous sacrifice."

Letters to the bureau display a cross section of life.

Cross Section of Life

Some of a son's belongings haven't arrived yet, so a father demands: "I want to know what has been done about the property stolen from my son's footlocker. The government stole half his check, now all his effects. Nothing could be lower than this."

A mother, who has received her son's effects, writes, "I know, dear people, this is merely routine work, 'your job' to you, but it's very special and wonderful to us. God bless you all."

And then there are the problems which make filling out an income tax blank seem easy. A fairly common one: a soldier marries, doesn't tell his mother. To whom shall the effects be sent?

A father writes that he is sure his son had much more money than was returned, and will the Army please hurry the rest along immediately. An investigation discloses that the soldier neglected neither wine, women nor song, that he repeatedly was absent without leave, that the surprising thing is that he had any money left at all. How should this news be broken to the father?

Answer Simple, Shocking

A girl who wrote to inquire what had been done with her brother's belongings. She knew exactly where everything should go, she said, for her brother had written he was sending them. Queer, thought the colonel, how did the fellow know his number was up? The answer was simple, but shocking. He had gotten into serious trouble, was court martialed and executed. The Army tactfully reported that he had died "not in line of duty." The sister never guessed why her brother knew that death was near.

All this means that 7,000 letters, tactful and understanding, go out of here each week, for the bureau wants this last touch most relatives will have with the Army to be sympathetic. "Very little of the glory of war in this business," declares the Colonel.

To all those who fret because personal effects are slow in coming, there is this assurance: the Army wants to deliver these things as quickly as possible; indeed, it has to keep them moving. For this bureau grows as casualty lists grow, and, as the boxcars keep moving in, packages and boxes must go out or even this mammoth storeroom will have more than it can handle.

There's humor occasionally here, of a grim sort. Take the case of an officer killed early in the war. He turned out to be a walking bank, and the bureau shipped thousands of dollars and many medals to the widow.

Colonel Murphy thought the job well done, but the widow didn't. She wrote and demanded:

"Who got away with those five bottles of cognac?"

PENNIES FOR HEAVEN

Dover Plains, N. Y.—(AP)—Members of a local church kept dropping the new steel pennies into the collection plate, mistaking them for dimes.

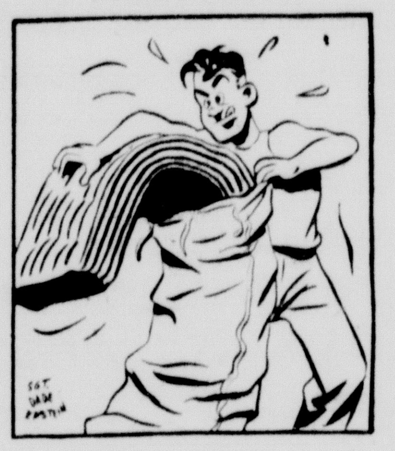
A member of the congregation suggested placing a special new-penny jar in the vestibule.

Parishoners responded. The jar now is almost full. And collections are back to normal.

Here's a planting MUST from Uncle Sam. Plant seed of hay and pasture crops. Set aside part of acreage for seed. Use Sudan and Atlas to replace second hay cutting.

DETAIL FOR TODAY

Mattress Cover



SGT. DAVE BREGER

A MATTRESS COVER is a diabolical device designed by the quartermaster corps to cover the G. I. mattress. It is a long canvas sack that's supposed to be slid over the top of the mattress. In some Army posts the MATTRESS COVER is the only object the soldier sees that resembles a sheet. Every week he has an epic struggle with it—a struggle that resembles the saddling of a bucking bronco. The soldier starts out calm, cool and collected and 15 minutes later winds up in a condition difficult to describe. It is not surprising to find a soldier who has been missing for several days all fouled up in his MATTRESS COVER in some remote corner of the barracks.
